New Teacher Mrs. Leonard

At the start of a brand new year, we are excited to announce the arrival of an additional teacher to our staff-Mrs. Sarah Leonard. She is the wife of Patrick Leonard and the mother of two sons, one being our very own Jacob Leonard. Sarah is an experienced teacher. She was a special education associate at Mid-Prairie. She attended Central Christian College near Kansas City, where she got her Christian Elementary education degree. She enjoys making soap out of goats milk, reading, and doing crafts in her free time. Sarah is very excited to be teaching again. She is looking forward to the rest of the year working with the first and second graders. We all are very excited about having a new teacher this year.

Editor' Corner

Well folks, the school year is upon us already! Students across the country are beginning to make the transition of getting back in the flow of another nine months of school. Meanwhile, my graduated friends chuckle in jest making fun of me for having to return, as if school were a prison. While some days may seem like that, I'm still thankful for my education, and I enjoy most days.

A lot of changes have come this year to Pathway, and one of those is an entirely new curriculum. We have switched to the Bob Jones University. It teaches in a classroom style, instead of at each students own pace, which was the ACE method. Adjusting to a new schedule has been a process, but the teachers are doing a good job with keeping things orderly.

As a senior, I have already done grades 2-11 in the ACE system. It's quite a challenge adapting to the change. Overall, I believe it will be the best direction for of our school's success and growth.
